Attention Contractors Who Use Forklifts:

Attend California Air Resources Board Meeting on Possible Regulations to Transition Forklift Fleets to Zero Emissions

SACRAMENTO – The California Air Resources Board (CARB) invites contractors to participate in a public workgroup meeting to discuss the development of a potential regulatory measure that would require fleets to replace their propane and gasoline forklifts with a battery-electric or fuel-cell electric version. This measure is part of continued efforts by CARB to protect Californians from the impacts of air pollution and climate change.

During CARB's public workgroup meeting, staff will provide a presentation on the draft measure concept followed by a discussion session where the public can provide feedback and ask questions.
